

THE UPPER PENINSULA STATE FAIR closed Sunday with the annual stock car races program. A crowd of more than 4,000 attended the final grandstand attraction. Saturday night an overflow crowd of more than 6,000 attended the Rex Allen show. Secretary-Manager Ray LaPorte reported today that the financial report for the 1954 fair has not yet been completed but LaPorte said that the exposition may have established a new attendance record despite adverse weather. Parking receipts indicated the possibility of record attendance, he said. Grandstand receipts for the six-day exposition were down about $1500 from last year, the result of rain and cold weather several days. McCarthy Flies Back To Face Censure Hearing

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) flies back to Washington from a California vacation today to face a new Senate investigation of his conduct and to learn what "verdict" seven fellow senators have reached in a prior one. A special bipartisan committee headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) planned a closed-door meeting later in the day to complete plans for the scheduled start Tuesday of public hearings on a resolution to censure McCarthy for what Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) has charged was conduct "unbecoming a senator" and tending to bring "disrepute" on the Senate.

On another front, the three Democratic members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee sought to complete before a 5 p.m. deadline their minority report on the 36-day McCarthy-Army hearings which ended last June 17. The subcommittee's four Republican members already have filed their sealed majority views on what, if anything, was proved of the charges and countercharges McCarthy and top Army officials flung at each other under oath.

The majority and minority findings and separate opinions of individual Republican and Democratic senators will constitute the "verdict." The over-all document is expected to be so bulky it may take until Wednesday morning to print it for distribution.

Before flying East last night, McCarthy told newsmen at plane-side he would meet today with the censure committee, but he complained "the hearing is holding up our investigations of Reds and other undesirables in the defense industries and services."

Civil Defense Offices Moved To Battle Creek

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Some 100 employees of the Federal Civil Defense Agency (FCDA) and their families moved into Battle Creek today as the bulk of "Operation Move" arrived from Washington, D. C.

Also expected today was Val Peterson, agency administrator, who said he would be on hand when the organization opens its new headquarters Wednesday at the Percy Jones Army Hospital Building.

An estimated 250 workers are making the shift from Washington. Some 40 families already have moved in. Battle Creek's population will be increased by almost 1,000 with completion of the move to establish national direction of the vital civilian defense effort to the breakfast food city.

An FCDA official said housing was the toughest problem facing the new arrivals. But he said city officials were doing everything possible to help.

Auto dealers offered free transportation to house-hunters and from 20 to 40 real estate men have set up housing offices.

The workers moving to Battle Creek represent about half the Washington FCDA staff. The remainder of the staff will be filled out with local help.

Assembly Kills EDC In France

PARIS (AP) — The French National Assembly tonight killed the European Defense Community treaty.

The vote came on a procedural motion to delay indefinitely French debate on ratification of the treaty setting up a European army.

The motion passed. While official figures were to be tabulated it was certain there were at least 300 votes against the motion and not more than 270 in favor of it.

It was only a question of the margin.

Eight ministers who had strongly supported the European army immediately banded together and threatened to resign from the government of Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

Mendes-France had announced earlier his Cabinet would remain neutral in the vote to delay ratification.

Grand Jury Indicts 545 In Vice Purge At Phenix City, Ala.

By REX THOMAS

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — An emergency grand jury returned 545 indictments today after three weeks of investigating vice and corruption in Phenix City and then went back to work to continue a crack-down on racketeers.

Under Alabama law names of those indicted must be withheld until the defendants are arrested or are under bond. Scores of gamblers and others identified with the rackets in this vice-rusted city already had been arrested by National Guardsmen and if any of those were included in the indictments and had already made bonds in Circuit Court, it was not necessary to arrest them again.

The indictments named 59 individuals.

Gambling Wide Open

In its report to Special Judge Walter B. Jones, the 18-man grand jury said that wide open gambling "has been allowed to remain and flourish unmolested . . . inviting an assemblage of criminals and creating an atmosphere of the commission of the other class of crimes which usually follow when gambling affects an area."

The jury report said it was taking no action at this time against public officials who might be guilty of neglect of duty but that those matters will be gone into fully later.

Picked teams of National Guardsmen stood ready to arrest the defendants named in the indictments, probably the greatest number ever returned by a grand jury in Alabama. Until the arrests are made, the names of those indicted must remain secret.

Multiple indictments against some of the gambling big shots were expected to account for

Officer Accused Of Aiding Reds

FT. SHERIDAN, Ill. (AP) — The Army court-martial of Lt. Col. Harry Fleming, first American officer to be charged with treason in the Korean War, starts today.

Eight former prisoners-of-war, members of the Army and Air Force, will testify against the slightly built, greying, 46-year-old officer.

He is accused of aiding the Reds following his capture at Wonju Oct. 1, 1950 and with committing "acts detrimental to fellow prisoners of war."

The specific charges state that Fleming:

Willfully stepped on the foot of an enlisted man while they were being taken to a prisoner-of-war camp in North Korea, reported to the camp commander an argument between two fellow prisoners, led camp discussion groups and made recordings later broadcast by Radio Peiping.

The trial originally was to have begun a week ago, but residents of Fleming's home town, Racine, Wis., intervened. The Racine citizens, including the mayor, obtained a civilian attorney, Alfred E. LaFrance, to aid Fleming's military legal staff.

The delay was granted to enable LaFrance to familiarize himself with the case.

many of the anticipated 500-odd true bills. As many as 50 indictments were believed likely against some.

Still others may come later in the continuing vice cleanup. Special Solicitor (Prosecutor) George C. Johnson said the jury would go right back to work as soon as the initial report was filed.

Killer Still Hunted

It was almost a foregone conclusion, however, that the first interim report would contain no indictments for the murder of anti-vice crusader A. L. Patterson, whose death on June 18 started the unprecedented vice purge in Phenix City, where wide-open gambling and other rackets flourished for years.

State authorities directing the search for Patterson's killer haven't completed their case.

Grand jury testimony is protected by closely guarded secrecy, but the identity of many witnesses

Control Of Next Congress Keynote In GOP Pep Rally

By JACK BELL

CINCINNATI (AP) — National Chairman Leonard W. Hall keynoted a Republican party campaign pep rally here today by accusing congressional Democrats of using "vast cunning" in attempts "to make our anti-Communist legislation unworkable."

Hall called on party committee-men and state chairmen to "re-affirm our standing pledge of campaign ethics." But he said in a speech for a workshop conference here that the Republicans are "not going to hang up the gloves" in what Pres. Eisenhower said was the "crucial struggle" for control of Congress.

Private Power-Atomic Bill Signed By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed the new atomic energy legislation and declared it will speed the time when the atom "will be wholly devoted" to peaceful purposes.

The bill, which ignited one of the hottest congressional fights of the year, overhauls the 1946 Atomic Energy Act. One of the changes permits the government, under certain security safeguards, to give nuclear information to America's allies.

Door Now Open

The new legislation also, for the first time, opens the door for development of a private atomic power industry within the United States.

Eisenhower, in a statement, took note of the warm debate in Congress over these provisions. He said he feels "some misunderstandings" were revealed during his debate and added:

"I want our people to know that these provisions are designed eventually to relieve the taxpayer of the enormous cost of the commercial aspects of the enterprise, while fully protecting the public interest in atomic energy."

"In fact, these provisions carry into effect the 1946 policy declaration of the original Atomic Energy Act, that free competition in private enterprise should be strengthened."

Will Boost Progress

Eisenhower expressed confidence that the new measure will be a boon to public and private development of atomic energy. It will lead, he said, to greater national strength.

"Programs undertaken as a result of this new law," the President declared, "will help us progress more rapidly to the time when this new source of energy will be wholly devoted to the constructive purposes of man."

Supporters say one immediate effect will be to stimulate the development of electricity from atomic energy. But even the most optimistic guesses are that commercially feasible power from atomic machines is still several years away.

Issues Challenges

While the basic objectives of the measure were not questioned, a number of its provisions ran into heavy challenge, especially in the Senate. Much of the argument followed the theme of the long-standing controversy over public vs. private power, with the bill's opponents crying "private monopoly" and its defenders saying it promoted "free enterprise."

The 104-page bill, virtually rewriting the original eight-year-old atomic law, provides this new authority:

1. The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) can grant 40-year renewable licenses for private industry to operate atomic facilities and handle fissionable materials. If Congress approves, the AEC can build full-scale power plants, for experimental purposes only, and other government agencies can apply for regular nuclear licenses. Cooperatives and publicly owned utilities get preference to buy the government-produced power.

Global Pool Sought

2. The President can give friendly nations hitherto secret details on the external characteristics of atomic weapons, their performance and methods of erecting defenses against them. This has been described as the heart of "new look" defense proposals for greater use of A-weapons in protecting Europe.

3. The President can start negotiations to carry out his plan for a global A-pool to help backward nations and can give friendly powers more data on how to produce civilian atomic power. These agreements are subject to congressional review.

The bill specifically approves a politically explosive proposal for the AEC to contract with a Southern utility group for a new private steam plant at West Memphis, Ark., to supply the Tennessee Valley area with another 600,000 kilowatts of energy by 1957. The power to serve the Memphis, Tenn., area, would go over Tennessee Valley Authority lines. TVA in turn would send equivalent power to the Paducah, Ky., atomic plant.

The proposed 107-million-dollar contract came under heavy attack during the marathon Senate debate, and more recently from Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell. The Joint Atomic Committee still must pass on the contract.

Crashes Of Two B36 Bombers Investigated; 25 Dead, 18 Injured

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — The Air Force has sent crack investigating teams from flight safety headquarters to help probe crashes of two giant B36 bombers within 24 hours that left 25 dead and 18 injured.

One of the 10-engine planes, trying to land but crippled by apparent power failure, smashed into an open patch near a big housing project on the El Paso outskirts Saturday night. It disintegrated into a fiery, exploding heap. One crewman was killed and 15 injured.

The night before, 24 crewmen died and three were critically hurt when another B36 crashed at Rapid City, S.D., while approaching Ellsworth Air Force Base for a landing in "perfect" weather. This was the worst crashup in the history of the world's largest bomber valued at 3½ million dollars.

The B36 that crashed Saturday night was from Biggs AFB near the city on the U.S.-Mexico border. It was returning from a 10-hour training flight.

Base officials said it made one landing pass at Biggs, circled and started another when power failed and the commander, Maj. L. D. Lanier of El Paso, asked permission for an emergency landing at El Paso International Airport. This was granted, but the crew was unable to keep the big ship aloft.

It smashed into an unpopulated area near the International Airport and burst into flames.

The fatality was identified as A. C. Ronald A. Strassheim of Buffalo, N.Y.

Witnesses said the four jet engines were still running when the ship hit. Unofficial cause was placed on failure of the plane's six conventional engines.

Typhoon Sweeps Over Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong cleaned up today after Typhoon Ida — the city's worst in 10 years — and found loss of life and damage slight considering the intensity of the gale. Two deaths, both Chinese, were reported.

The typhoon passed inland over the Chinese mainland about 60 miles south of Hong Kong during the night but winds over the city reached 99 miles per hour at their peak.

Three ships, two British and on Panamanian, broke from their anchorages and went aground. Tugs quickly pulled two of them free. The third was still a prisoner this morning at Stonecutter's Island, just off Hong Kong.

Before the typhoon hit on Saturday, an American consulate employee, Alice Pekors of Iron Mountain, Mich., had a close call. She was caught out beyond heavy breakers while swimming, but John Baylis, a British swimmer, helped her to safety.

Grand Rapids Woman Admits Setting Trap And Killing Husband

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A 25-year-old housewife admitted setting a trap for her husband, police said, and shot him to death when he came home with another woman.

Officers said Mrs. Lula Jackson told them she fired a .32 caliber revolver four times at her husband, Arthur, 29, Saturday night. Police said she told them she left a note for her husband telling him she was out of town and then hid in a closet, stepping out with the revolver when he appeared with the other woman.

Mrs. Jackson accidentally shot herself in the foot during the firing. She was held today for investigation.

No Details Given

The President said that for a century and a half the United States has prided itself "on its refusal to maintain large standing military forces."

"We have relied, instead, upon the civilian soldier. But we have done so without being fair either to the private citizen or to the security of the nation."

He went into no detail about the nature of the military reserve he wants to build. He made no mention of the plan for a powerful reserve outlined a few weeks ago by John Hannah, then assistant secretary of defense in charge of manpower and now returned to the Presidency of Michigan State College.

That plan called for every able-bodied young man to put in a military service stint and then join the reserve. The White House said at the time the program Hannah

Democrats Re-elect Texas Governor Who Backed Eisenhower

By BRUCE HENDERSON

DALLAS (AP) — President Eisenhower is "highly pleased" at the re-election of Texas Gov. Allan Shivers, a conservative Democrat who supported Republican Eisenhower in the 1952 presidential election.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell says he does not consider Shivers' victory an indication of any national trend or of "anything about Eisenhower."

Shivers rode a record Texas primary vote Saturday to victory over Austin Atty. Ralph Yarborough, who was backed by liberal Texas Democrats.

It was a runoff election in which Shivers won an unprecedented — in Texas — third elective two-year term and Yarborough failed a second straight time to unseat him.

The latest tabulation of the Texas Election Bureau, an unofficial vote-counting agency, showed Shivers had a lead of 93,240 votes—771,569 for Shivers to 678,329 for Yarborough.

Security To Be No. 1 Item For 1955 Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told the American Legion today this country must cast aside "wishful thinking and political timidity" and start building a strong, ready-to-serve military reserve within the next year.

The President, cheered uproariously by some 7,700 delegates and visitors to Legion's 36th national convention, announced the creation of such a force will be "a number one item" in his 1955 program for Congress.

In an address strongly implying he will propose some form of universal military training, Eisenhower declared:

"We have failed miserably to maintain that strong, ready military reserve in which we have believed for 150 years. Now at long last we must build such a reserve. And we must maintain it."

United Policy Urged

Eisenhower said, too, amid renewed cheering from the massed legionnaires packed into the sweltering National Guard Auditorium: "This reserve will not unduly burden men who have already served."

Eisenhower, himself a life member of the legion, wore the cap of the Abilene, Kan., post when he stepped forward, waving acknowledgment of the yelling, whistling ovation, but he discarded it before he began speaking.

Near the beginning of his speech, he threw into his prepared remarks a new passage—calling in strong terms for American unity on foreign policy.

"Stability in our national purposes is essential," the President said. "Obviously this cannot be obtained if there is to be marked change—or if the world is to fear a marked change—with every veering of the partisan political winds."

"The only answer is that the American people must be informed and their decisions be made clear." Eisenhower flew here from his summer stay in Colorado this morning to address his former comrades in arms.

The President said that for a century and a half the United States has prided itself "on its refusal to maintain large standing military forces."

"We have relied, instead, upon the civilian soldier. But we have done so without being fair either to the private citizen or to the security of the nation."

He went into no detail about the nature of the military reserve he wants to build. He made no mention of the plan for a powerful reserve outlined a few weeks ago by John Hannah, then assistant secretary of defense in charge of manpower and now returned to the Presidency of Michigan State College.

New Colony In Israel Honors Herman Gessner

A fitting tribute to the memory of a man whose entire life was marked by deep and humane interest in his fellowmen, particularly those in need, was climaxed last night in presentation of a scroll recording the establishment of Nachlath Herman Gessner in Israel to Mrs. Herman Gessner, widow of the prominently known business and civic leader.

The presentation of the scroll to Mrs. Gessner in honor of her husband commemorates the 10th anniversary of the death of Mr. Gessner. He died Sept. 14, 1944.

The colony, funds for which were raised through voluntary contributions of Zionists from all parts of the Upper Peninsula in cooperation with the Jewish National Fund of America to establish a memorial to Mr. Gessner, will give a home to 100 families who will have the opportunity to establish their households permanently and work the soil. Its boundaries will be marked Nachlath Herman Gessner.

Presentation By Official

The memorial presentation dinner was held in the Marine Room of the House of Ludington with 80 in attendance, including officials of the Jewish National Fund of America, Upper Peninsula men who had worked with Mr. Gessner in the organization and in other charities he undertook, and the members of the Gessner family.

The scroll was presented on behalf of the Jewish National Fund of America by Milton J. Silbermann, vice president of the organization, and vice president of the Exchange National Bank of Chicago and by Isadore Dubinsky of Ishpeming in behalf of the Jewish people of the Upper Peninsula. Charles Gessner, who came from Cambridge, Mass., for the event, responded in behalf of his mother, stating that establishment of the colony not only was a memorial to his father, but a tribute to the generosity of those who had made it possible.

Principal Speaker

J. J. Drey of Iron River was chairman of the dinner program.

Principal speaker was Mr. Silbermann who has just returned from a five weeks' visit in Israel as the guest of the president of the country. He described the accomplishments which have been made and of the progress which is encompassed in future plans.

The program included impromptu talks by old friends of Mr. Gessner who had worked many years with him in his efforts to establish a colony, including Maurice Plous of Iron River and Philip Stein of Escanaba, reading of testimonial letters from the president of the Jewish National Fund of America and others close to the work of the organization, and appropriate music, violin solos by Isadore Stein who was accompanied by Anita Lewis of Gladstone.

Gessner Family Present

The Escanaba committee on arrangements for the dinner was headed by Ben Fineman. Guests included residents of Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette, Iron Mountain, Crystal Falls, Iron River and Munising, in addition to Mrs. Gessner and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gessner and son.

Watch Your Innerlinings!

by Melton McGovern, graduate of National Institute of Dry Cleaning.

You might think that this is a peculiar subject to concern ourselves with when talking about cleaning, garment preservation, stain removal and the like.

Not at all. Innerlinings, being hidden, are one of those little things that some unscrupulous manufacturers use as an excuse for making petty economies. The innerlining is dyed, and then used without removing the excess dye.

Such "fugitive" dye innerlinings occur in both men's and women's clothing at the following places: Collar, cuff, facing waistband, pocket stay, belts or shoulder pads. When the garment becomes moist, either from rain, spilling or perspiration, the innerlining bleeds off the excess dye and it travels either into the body of the fabric or the lining of the garment. Try to remove such a spot, and you get further "bleeding". Then the garment, more often than not, is damaged beyond repair.

Your best bet in avoiding this is to ASK THE MERCHANT IF THE INNERLINING IS FAST. If it isn't, why not look a little longer?

And if the garment should become stained without your noticing it, right away, call it to our attention. We may be able to remedy it.

For the best results, whatever the cleaning problem. Call or bring it to us.

National Guardsmen Will Patrol Highways On Labor Day Weekend

Fifty five National Guardsmen of Upper Peninsula's 107th Engineer Combat Battalion, including 28 from Escanaba, Gladstone and Manistique, will patrol U. P. highways with Michigan State Police in a special effort to reduce the number of traffic accidents over Labor Day weekend.

Extra traffic control will be the order of the day throughout the state as Michigan takes the lead in the fight against holiday fatalities. In the Upper Peninsula, particular attention will be paid to US-2 between St. Ignace and Manistique which has been the scene of many fatal accidents on holiday weekends. All well-traveled Upper Peninsula highways, however, will be patrolled carefully.

National Guardsmen of the U. P. and throughout Michigan will be on duty Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Lt. Col. Leonard C. Ward, of Escanaba, commander of the 107th, reported this morning.

Will Curb Speed

It is the hope of originators of the plan that holiday drivers knowing that all highways will be thoroughly patrolled with Guardsmen cooperating with state police, will drive carefully and at a safe rate of speed.

The National Guard will be in uniform but for the four-day stint will remain under control of and subordinate to civil authority, it was explained.

Thirteen men from Headquarters and Service Company, Ishpeming, will be attached to the Marquette state police post, and 12 men from Marquette's Company B will be attached to the

Minneapolis Man Assigned To Local Salvation Army

Lt. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, of Minneapolis, Minn., have been assigned to Salvation Army work in Escanaba succeeding Capt. and Mrs. Louis Thompson, who are being sent to Marinette, Wis. Lt. Sullivan and family are expected to arrive in Escanaba late Wednesday afternoon to immediately assume their new duties.

Lt. and Mrs. Sullivan have been enlisted in Salvation Army work for the past two years. Prior to that he was pastor in the Holiness Methodist Church denomination serving in ministerial work for about 17 years. They are the parents of six children, the oldest a daughter of 15 years.

A welcome reception for the Sullivans will be held at the Salvation Army hall Thursday evening at 8 to which the public in general is invited.

Capt. and Mrs. Thompson came here from Chicago four years ago. Their new charge in Marinette is somewhat larger than the Escanaba one in that it serves two cities—Marinette and Menominee. Marinette is Capt. Thompson's boyhood home.

A farewell reception will be given the Thompsons here on Wednesday evening at the Salvation Army hall at 8.

Open Teachers' Conference Here

The 15th annual Pre-School Teachers' Conference of the Escanaba Public Schools opened today with a meeting of new teachers and principals this morning and a meeting of all teachers this afternoon for a discussion of policies and regulations.

There will be 15 new teachers on the total staff of 113 this year according to John A. Lemmer, superintendent of schools. The total number of teachers is four less than last year.

A picnic at Pioneer Trail Park for teachers, clerical and custodial staffs, is scheduled for this evening.

Dr. Ketcham To Speak

The conference is scheduled to continue through Friday, in preparation for the opening of schools Tuesday morning, Sept. 7.

Escanaba citizens are invited to attend any of the conference sessions in which they are interested. At 9 a. m. tomorrow in Wm. Oliver Memorial Auditorium the teachers will hear Dr. Warren A. Ketcham, assistant professor of education, University of Michigan.

Dr. Ketcham's background has been largely in the public school system, beginning with his attendance in grade schools near Manistee where he was born, and continuing through graduation from Manistee High School, attendance at Albion College, and B. M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from University of Michigan.

He was employed as a teacher and supervisor until he entered the United States Army in 1942. He served until 1945, including two years in the Pacific.

Guests Of Businessmen

In addition to his work in the public schools he has been a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan and school psychologist for the City of Ferndale school district.

Curriculum committee meetings and reports by chairmen of curriculum committees are a part of the program for the conference. Wednesday evening the teachers will be guests of several Escanaba business organizations at a dinner at the Dells. Charles Burton, Gladstone, U. P. Development Bureau director, will speak on "Michigan Unlimited." The teachers will be welcomed by James Jackson and Robert S. Meyer will be toastmaster.

Dr. Ketcham will present the Increasing Enrollment Creates Need For More School Facilities

FOR most Delta County grade school and high school students, this is the final week of the summer vacation. Classes for the fall term will resume after the Labor Day vacation. For some of the township students, vacation is over and it's back to school today.

Nationwide the new school term poses a number of troublesome problems. Enrollments generally are expected to be at record high levels. Many areas will find an acute shortage of classrooms and some will find an equally acute shortage of qualified teachers. Furthermore, the situation is expected to get increasingly difficult for the next several years.

The opening of a new parochial high school now and the construction of a new public grade school, to be available for the second half of the school year, will relieve the pressure of increased student enrollment in Escanaba. Several of the township school districts likewise have provided new school buildings to meet their particular problems.

The school problem in Escanaba, however, is not yet licked for a long period of time. On the contrary, present public school census figures indicate that within four or five years enrollment in the public high school will reach a level that will necessitate consideration of a new high school building.

Fortunately, the Escanaba school district will have available a substantial financial start towards such a project, a sum of $500,000 plus accrued earnings. This is a result of one of the bequests of the late Mrs. Catherine Bonifas to the Escanaba School District.

It was also a bequest of Mrs. Bonifas that made possible the development of the new Catholic Central High School in Escanaba, a bequest of $600,000. This money was supplemented by contributions from parishioners of approximately $500,000.

The world is again indebted to Herbert Hoover. But this time it is not the former President. It is his 51-year-old mining engineer son who successfully negotiated the Anglo-Iranian oil settlement. The deal should end the three-year controversy, and block the Communists out of strategic Iran.

Herbert Hoover, Jr., working for the State Department, has been shuttling back and forth among the British, Iranians, and a consortium of Western oil companies. His patience, tact and mining experience have paid off in a deal under which Iran keeps the former British properties, receives half of the profits, and Britain will be compensated for her lost oil wells and billion dollar refinery.

Edson In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—A congressional campaign is so utterly different from a presidential campaign that persons familiar with the strategies of political warfare are frankly amazed at the unrealistic attitude of the White House toward the coming elections for Congress in November.

The popularity of a president has little or nothing to do with the outcome. The local popularity of the Republican or Democratic nominee in each district or state has a great deal to do with the ultimate result, but mostly the campaign turns on the voters feeling for a political party—his past affiliations and the grievances that may have made him turn away from his party. Voters are party-minded in a congressional campaign. The Eisenhower name will not be on the ballot, and only the Republican and Democratic party emblems will confront the voters in the polling booths, together with candidates' names which are largely unfamiliar to the average citizen.

No president has ever been able to transfer his own popularity or prestige or the weight of his own political strength to the nominees of his party in a congressional campaign. But an aggressive president who fights hard against the opposition party, and doesn't spend his energies fighting members of his own party, can help sway voters toward his party label.

THEY "VOTE AGAINST"

The evidence from past campaigns, as privately appraised by party leaders in their postmortems after victory or defeat, points up the fact that the voters generally vote "against things" rather than for affirmative virtues. This means that often a party in power is continued in office not so much for what it has done but because the people are not yet ready to go back to the party they threw out—they are still "against" the party they previously defeated.

Voters are influenced by emotions and the pocketbook appeal. Even if they are somewhat dissatisfied on economic issues, however, they will often be swayed by emotional issues such as corruption in office or Communist infiltration or war. What the Republican strategists have failed to do is to build up the prestige of the Republican party and to attack the record of the Democrats in the previous 20 years. Mr. Eisenhower has not pedaled the attack and has said he wants to let bygones be bygones—a generous but naive attitude which is not being reciprocated by the Democrats, who are already reminding the voters that they consider the Republican party to be a party of unemployment and depression.

It is a new confidence in the Republican party label that voters have to feel, as they need to be reminded and assured that there will be no return to the mistakes of the Truman administration. But the White House has given little inspiration to the party workers, and it is they and their organizations which get out the vote in congressional elections. It could be that the Democrats will win Congress this time, not by virtue of anything they will offer to do, but by persuading people to vote "against the failures of the Republican party," as the attack is being vigorously presented by former Speaker Rayburn and others.

THE NEGATIVE HABIT

The negative habit is well documented in the political history of America. The people voted "against the high cost of living" in 1910, when they elected a Democratic House of Representatives in the middle of a Republican president's term despite a splendid record of constructive legislation by Congress. The people were "against war" in 1916 when they re-elected a Democratic president on a peace platform, but in 1918 they voted in a Republican majority in both houses in protest against wartime irritations and against the action of the same president for having entered World War I.

Again, in 1920 the people voted "against the Democrats" on the war issue in resentment against American intervention in European affairs, and the same attitude—called "isolationism" then—continued to hurt the Democrats in 1924 and 1928. But four years later the Democrats began swinging toward "isolationism" themselves, and Franklin Roosevelt, in order to be nominated by the Democrats in 1932, had to repudiate the proposal for entry into the League of Nations which he had espoused as a vice-presidential candidate in 1920.

The tendency to vote "against" was noticeable in 1932, when the people voted "against the Hoover depression." In 1936, 1940 and 1944, the negative attitude of the voters toward the Republican party was so intense on account of the memories of the depression that an oratorical reminder on the stump of the unemployment issue was enough to discredit the Republican candidates.

In 1946, the country voted "against meat controls" by the Democratic administration and elected a Republican Congress. Mr. Truman in 1948, using an attack strategy of the "give 'em hell" variety, succeeded in convincing the country it should vote "against the do-nothing Republican Congress," and he won. In 1952, the people voted "against Korea, Communism and corruption." Mr. Eisenhower was a satisfactory and popular alternative, but Taft could have won, too, on the negative tide that was rolling then.

Igloo's A Classroom In Arctic Survival School For Airmen

GOING TO SCHOOL WITH A NET: Arctic survival students at an outdoor classroom on Cambridge Bay, northern Canada, haul in their dinner—a trio of big brook trout—netted through holes in seven-foot ice. They're USAF and RCAF fliers learning how to stay alive in case of a crash.

By JAMES MONTAGNES

NEA Special Correspondent
CAMBRIDGE BAY, Canada (NEA)—A jet pilot who makes a forced landing in the Arctic steps from one of the world's most complicated machines to the primitive world of survival in one of the world's most isolated, uninhabited and desolate areas.

Because more and more aircraft are flying over the northern wastes, every pilot and aircrew member of the Royal Canadian Air Force is being taught how to live in the far north. A growing number of United States Air Force pilots, navigators and radio officers are also taking the RCAF survival courses.

It is no mere classroom course. Spokesmen for the RCAF point out that "conditions facing a crew forced down in the Canadian Barrens or Far Arctic would likely be severe, and the school operates on the principle of duplicating such circumstances."

Squadron Leader Scott E. Alexander of Vancouver, a former member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who heads the school, says "you have to know how to make the North work for you, and all the courage and determination in the world won't help you unless you have that know-how."

There is a four-day classroom course on first aid, navigation in the woods, personal hygiene, swimming and films on how to live in the Arctic.

In summer there is an 11-day course in woodcraft, fishing and hunting and the making of fires in all kinds of weather, in scenic Jasper National Park near Edmonton, Alberta.

In winter the course goes outdoors in tents at Hargwen, 150 miles west of Edmonton, where the same things are taught under winter conditions.

Then there is a week at Cambridge Bay on Victoria Island, 200 miles north of the Arctic Circle, on how to live in 50 below zero temperature.

The airmen who take the courses carry nothing with them except the emergency equipment now standard in all Canadian fighter aircraft. It weighs less than 30 pounds, and includes a one-man dinghy, a rifle that folds up to fit into a 14-inch space, two-way battery-operated radio, and other necessities to snare fish, notify searching aircraft, concentrated foods for at least 14 days, and a snowknife with which to build an ice igloo.

The airmen are taught by Eskimos how to build their own igloos—and then they live in them for a week. They are taught how to fish in the Arctic in winter time, which involves chopping a hole through ice anywhere up to 70 inches thick.

When a net is used, two holes have to be hacked out and the net threaded under the ice with a stick. The more conventional fish-hook style uses only one hole, but requires constant attention in the biting Arctic wind. And for summer fishing the airmen learn how to jig for fish with a piece of red flannel or bacon rind as bait.

If there are no lakes or rivers where the pilot comes down, he is armed with a cookbook which tells him how to prepare edible dishes from plant life and animals found in the Arctic.

The recipes are not for the fastidious, but they will keep a person alive on dishes cooked up from bats, snakes, mice and sea cucumbers, as well as lichen, sea-

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNAHAN

FARMER-LABORER — Farmers (and non-farmers) at the U. P. State Fair were supplied with literature by one branch of organized labor bent on enrolling the farmer in the union's ranks.

The gist of the printed union message to farmers is that the farmer and the organized labor member are brothers under the skin and should be pulling together instead of separately.

This is all very well except there are not many farmers who can see the difference between a city slicker with a union card and th chap without one. For the farmer is not only a worker—he is also an investor in his enterprise, a manager, a stockholder, and his only labor is often himself and his family.

There is a vast difference between the factory worker on an hourly pay scale and the farmer who has to work 60 hours or more each week to keep solvent.

We are all brothers under the skin to the farmer and to each other, for each depends in more or less degree upon the productive efforts of the other. Associations of farmers, such as the old reliable State Grange and the American Farm Federation, know the farmers' problems better than any non-farmer association.

THE FARMERS' FRIENDS—So many appeals for programs, political and otherwise, have been made for the benefit of the farmer that it is small wonder the farmer sometimes wonders if his case is not being hurt by too much kindness.

There is one long-established program, however, upon which he can rely. It is the agricultural extension program sponsored by Michigan State College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, with the County Board of Supervisors cooperating.

Farmers recognize the value of the program designed to help them put farming on a business basis, so they know where they're losing money and where they're making it and help them plan for better farm living for the entire family.

Agricultural extension is dedicated to helping the farmer make more profit on the farm and a better living for his family.

Congress has set aside $7 million to hire 1,000 extra county agents to extend the program to areas not now being served. In this way more farmers will receive help in working out a more profitable over-all plan for his farm.

THE FARM PROBLEM—Selling what you raise for a price that will pay you a profit is the crux of the farmer's problem.

One answer has been worked out by California fruit and vegetable farmers: The cooperative pools. They invest their own money to promote and advertise every crop they grow—from potatoes to lemons. They get no government price supports and declare they can do a better job for themselves than the government can do for them.

Midwestern farmers, who have been cool toward cooperative advertising and promotion programs, might glance at the results obtained by such self-help programs.

California dairymen, for example are getting $5 and $6 a hundred for their Grade A milk, while the consumer pays only 20 cents a quart; while in the Chicago milkshed farmers get only $3.50 for Grade A milk while the housewife pays 24 cents a quart.

COMPETITION—The farmer's friends in many groups have directed his attention to the course he should pursue to achieve prosperity.

Vote for this party or that party; organize and become affiliated with a labor union; go on strike for higher supports and prices.

Fortunately the farmer is not easily swayed in his course. He continues to produce the food the nation needs—despite a price slump that leaves him caught receiving less for his produce and paying more for what he must buy.

And the farmer remembers that when there was bigger money in price supported farming during and shortly after the war the boys from the city moved in to plant potatoes and make a fast buck.

It started a trend that is continuing. There is a growing number of town and city workers who are moving to the country to engage in part-time farming. No doubt the farmer hopes that one of these days the people who believe in a closed shop will stay out of the already crowded business of farming.

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

Ralph Kettering, drama critic, grew up with George M. Cohan, and shared many adventures with him. There was the time that William Pinkerton, famous "private eye," attended a Cohan musical extravaganza, and George and Ralph managed to pinch the big silver watch the detective kept loosely in his vest pocket . . . Months later, Cohan staged a big dinner in Pinkerton's honor, and in the course of his laudatory speech, presented him with his own watch, engraved, "To the World's Greatest Detective from His Admiring Pals." The gift was enclosed in a magnificent plush case. Pinkerton started to yell, "So that's where my"—stopped in the nick of time, and wound up with a fulsome speech of love and gratitude.

The Doctor Says . . . Humans Can Contract Disease From Infected Birds

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Disturbing reports of outbreaks of a disease known as psittacosis have appeared in many corners of the continent during the past few months. That this is not totally unexpected is shown by the publication of an article forecasting an increase in this disease in the American Journal of Public Health last November.

Psittacosis is not a new disease but it can and does produce most unpleasant symptoms and it is a matter of considerable concern also because it can be spread to human beings either from birds kept as pets, or from other people with the disease.

PSITTACOSIS is caused by a virus. In human being it produces a high fever with symptoms in the lung much like those of pneumonia. In a person ill with the disease the virus can be found in the sputum and if this sputum is injected into mice it will produce the disease in these animals. The disease is primarily one of birds, such as parrots, parakeets and lovebirds. It attacks these birds readily. In one shipment of 161 parrots, parakeets and conures from South America, only 16 were found to be free of the virus which causes this disease.

IN 1932, 76 cases of psittacosis were reported in the United States and seven died from the disease. During 1933, only 15 cases and four deaths were reported.

The rapid improvement came from a quarantine which was imposed by the federal government on the shipping of parrots and similar birds between the states. Since that time our public health services have been engaged in a continuous battle to eliminate psittacosis in susceptible birds. Infected birds have been destroyed and the importation of infected birds has been prohibited.

THE DISEASE has not entirely died out among human beings, and the likelihood of contracting it seems to be increasing again.

Psittacosis in human beings resembles virus or a typical pneumonia. Fortunately there is a specific test available which can be used to make the diagnosis definite.

So far as treatment is concerned, either serum taken from a victim of the disease who is convalescing or a goat serum which has been produced, seem to shorten the course of human psittacosis. Some of the antibiotic preparations probably offer the best hope of prompt and effective treatment.

The important point, however, is for anyone who keeps birds to make sure that their pets are healthy and free of psittacosis virus by having them examined by a veterinarian.

McCoy, the saloon operator, came in. He was followed a few minutes later by Morgan Holt, the hardware man, and Cece Tobin, who ran the feed and produce business in town, one of Fugger's enterprises. Fugger whispered to them a moment or two, then took his departure.

"We're ready when you are," Tobin announced.

"Good," said Packard. "I suggest we do this with as little argument as possible. As each vote comes in he writes down his name, so we can check on possible repeaters."

"What if he can't write?" asked McCoy.

"If a man can't write he can't vote," snapped Packard.

"Whoa!" cried Morgan Holt. "You can't discriminate against a man just because he can't write his own name. Besides he don't have to write to vote. All he's got to do is put a cross before a candidate's name."

Packard looked inquiringly at Miller. The latter nodded.

"All right," conceded Packard. "We'll write down their names, then."

"Then let's vote," snapped McCoy.

He took up a ballot and made a few quick marks. Then he folded the ballot and dropped it into the slot of the ballot box. The others marked their own ballots and dropped them into the box.

A couple of the businessmen of the town came in during the next few minutes and cast their ballots, and at 8 o'clock there was actually a small line waiting to mark their ballots.

The frown that had appeared on Miller's face when he first came to the voting place, disappeared as he saw friends in the line. It was quite evident that Fugger was not going to intimidate many voters.

Miller remembered that his newspaper had announced that the polls would be open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6 in the evening.

A steady stream of people came in and about 9 o'clock Miller hastily checking the record book, estimated that a hundred people had voted in the first hour.

A few minutes after 9 o'clock South Street exploded. Hong Kong Smith's men roode into town in a body and whooped and yelled in front of the bank where Smith was getting the money to pay them. There was more whooping and shooting when the crew went into the McCoy's Saloon to receive their money.

For the next half hour there was only an occasional burst of noise as a cowboy spewed out of the saloon, but then there was a sudden rattle of gunfire and Packard looking out of the window, suddenly gasped. "They're coming here!"

Luke Miller left the ballot box and stepped to the window. A swarm of Texas men, led by

Hong Kong Smith, was charging toward the jail.

Lee Kinnaird stepped through the door and found Chuck Gorey already there. Luke Miller came out behind him.

"Gonna fulfill our civic duty," Hong Kong Smith boomed.

"You can't vote!" snapped Luke Miller.

Who says we can't?" cried Hong Kong Smith. He turned to his cowboys. "He says we can't vote!"

A half dozen guns were discharged into the air and were scarcely heard above the roar of the men. They surged forward, pushing Hong Kong Smith against Lee Kinnaird and Luke Miller. Kinnaird put his hand on Smith's chest.

"Don't crowd me, Smith," Kinnaird muttered, icily.

Smith's tongue came out and licked his lips. "I got as much right to vote as anybody." He appealed to Chuck Gorey. "Ain't that right, Marshall?"

Gorey shot a quick look at Lee Kinnaird.

"Seems I got notin' to say about it," replied Gorey. "They got a committee of six to say who votes and who don't." He gestured to the group of poll officials, all of whom had come out by now. "Ask them."

"We're asking," said Smith.

"As far as I'm concerned you vote," growled McCoy, the saloonman. He was immediately seconded by Holt and Tobin.

"And we say you don't," declared Luke Miller, indicating Packard and Kinnaird. "Only legitimate residents of Sage City and Sage County can vote."

"What's a legitimate resident?" sneered Hong Kong Smith.

"People who live here."

"How long?"

Miller scowled. The question had never come up. In frontier towns everybody voted, even though they may have arrived only the day before.

"The intent of the law," Miller said, harshly, "is that people vote who have a permanent interest in a community. The length of time they have lived in a place isn't too important. The point is the voter must be a legitimate settler."

"We're settlers," howled Hong Kong Smith. "We're all settlers here, ain't we, boys?"

His men roared in the affirmative. Again there was a forward surge and the committee of six was forced back to the door of the marshal's office. Then Jacob Fugger came through the crowd. He was followed by Horace Van Meter.

"We can hold a council meeting right here, Miller," he said, as he came forward. He pointed to his members on the voting committee. "You're all councilmen. All right, do we let these settlers vote, or do we not?"

Miller capitulated. "Save your breath."

Sixty-two Texas men voted in the next half hour.

Social Security Threat To Thrift?

DETROIT (AP)—Robert C. Gilmore Jr., president of the National Assn. of Life Underwriters, told a Detroit audience that broadening of social security benefits would threaten America's thrift habit. He said: "If we remove the incentive to work and save and build an estate, if we keep pyramiding government benefits for everyone, we will one day eliminate the need for savings banks, building and loan associations, life insurance and securities of all kinds."

Housewives Must Pay Tax On Maids

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Many more thousands of housewives and their part-time domestic employees — like maids, cooks, gardeners — must start paying a social security tax on their employee's earnings in 1955.

That's because Congress recently changed the social security law covering domestic employees to bring more of them under the protection of the social security system.

Effective Jan. 1

The change goes into effect next Jan. 1. This is what it means, keeping in mind that the first calendar quarter is January through March.

If after Jan. 1 a domestic employee earns as much as $50 from one employer in a three-month quarter, then both the employer and the employee must each pay a tax of 2 per cent — total of 4 per cent — on the employee's earnings.

In one quarter a domestic employee may not earn as much as $50 from one employer; in another quarter she may earn that much or more. The tax has to be paid for each quarter — but only that quarter — in which $50 or more is earned.

And if a domestic employee — say a one-day-a-week maid — works for several different housewives and earns as much as $50 from each of them in a quarter, then in each case where that much money was earned the individual housewife and the maid must pay the tax on what the maid earned from that housewife.

Days Not Factor

Under the present law—changed, beginning Jan. 1 — neither a housewife nor her maid had to pay a social security tax unless the maid worked for her at least 24 days in a quarter and earned at least $50 in that period.

Under the new law the number of days worked by any domestic employee for any housewife will make no difference. The only test on whether tax has to be paid is whether the domestic earned $50 or more from the housewife. For example:

Mary Jones, who works as a maid one day a week for several housewives for $7 a day, misses some days because they don't need her or because she's ill. But say she worked for Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Adams in 1955's first quarter.

She earned more than $50 from each of them in that three-month period except Mrs. Adams, who didn't need her often. Mrs. Adams paid her $49.

Then Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Kelly must all pay a 2 per cent tax on Mary's earnings from them. And in each case Mary must match that by paying a 2 per cent tax also. On the $49 earned from Mrs. Adams neither Mrs. Adams nor Mary has to pay a tax.

Account Number Required
In every case it is the housewife, not the maid, who must actually send in the tax money. The maid can give the housewife her share of the housewife can deduct the maid's share out of the maid's pay. The housewife can pay the maid's share as well as her own, if she wants to.

The payment must be given to the government before the end of the month following the calendar quarter in which $50 or more was earned. For instance, the tax on the earnings of a domestic employee in the first quarter of 1955 must be paid before the end of April 1955.

The domestic employee — the maid in this case — must have a social security account number under the program. If she doesn't have it, she must get it. She can go about getting it this way: Ask the local post office for Application Form SS-5. This is filled out and sent to the nearest social security field office. There are 512 of these offices.

Booklets Prepared

In making the tax payment, the housewife will need Form 942. She can get this by writing to the district collector of internal revenue, with the explanation that she now has a domestic employee who qualifies for social security coverage. For the guidance of housewives and domestic employees the government is preparing booklets of information and instruction. They should be ready before the first of the year.

Domestic employees who now go under social security coverage will, if they work long enough in security-covered jobs, be entitled to old age insurance after age 65.

There are also other benefits in case a covered domestic employee dies before reaching 65. For example, a lump sum death payment to the spouse of the deceased domestic employee, ranging from a minimum of $90 to $255.

Benefits in each case will depend on time worked under social security coverage and money earned.

Evans Lindley Wins Bissell Trophy Race

Winner of the annual Bissell Trophy race to Gladstone Sunday afternoon was the 21 ft. sloop owned and sailed by Evans Lindley of Escanaba. Finishing the 14 mile course second, and behind the winner by 13 seconds based on corrected time, was the 16 ft. Seagull class boat skippered by Jim Johnson, also of Escanaba.

Northerly winds from 12 to 18 mph and water conditions made the owners of two smaller craft decide not to start and wet going for those who did. Two of the entries from Gladstone dropped out of the contest at that point. A fair wind and following sea made the return leg a fast run, and each sailboat covered the 7 miles in about one hour. Total time for Lindley's "Wasp" was 3 hours and 22 minutes or 9 minutes less than the second boat on elapsed time.

The course was patrolled by a Coast Guard vessel and by the power cruiser owned by Rufus H. Peck. Officials for the race were Dick Hoyer and John Welch, Jr., winners of this trophy event last year and Frank St. Martin, chairman of the EYC regatta committee.

The Bissell Trophy will be awarded at the Escanaba Yacht Club's winner's dinner later in the season.

Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was lower today with trading interest picking up on the decline. Losses in some instances went to between one and three points. There were few gains of any importance in the list.

Trading hit a rate of around two million shares for the day, compared with a low 1,740,000 shares traded Friday.

Dropping away were Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Bell Aircraft, Boeing, General Dynamics, Republic Aircraft, Radio Corp., American Telephone, Western Union, General Electric, Northern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Standard Oil (N.J.) and Loew's.

After the Justice Department over the weekend frowned on mergers, Youngstown Sheet & Tube opened off 1 1/2 points and then slipped further for a loss of between 2 and 3 points. Bethlehem, which is talking merger with Youngstown, was down between 1 and 2.

Montgomery Ward, which ran up sharply recently when faced with a proxy fight for control, was down early in the session.

U. S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Car Mishaps Kill 14 In Michigan

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan traffic accidents claimed at least 14 lives over the weekend, while four persons drowned, a 16-year-old youth burned to death in a home fire, and an infant suffocated.

In addition, Ontario Provincial Police were dragging for the bodies of two Detroit area fishermen who were presumed drowned off Stony Point in Lake St. Clair.

Ignatius G. Walters, Sr., 74, of Wyandotte was killed when his car collided Sunday with the rear of a truck trailer two miles north of Rockwood.

William Popovitch, 40, of Detroit, was struck and fatally injured Sunday by a car at a northwest side intersection.

Two fishermen drowned Sunday in Picnic Lake in Maple Valley Township near Stanton when their outboard motor boat capsized. The victims were Ralph C. Young, 19, of Trufant, and his uncle Donald C. West, 39, of South Bend, Ind.

Thomas J. O'Reilly, 47, of Grand Rapids, drowned Saturday while swimming in the Grand River. Earl Catlin, 44, and Albert J. Lee, 46, both of the Detroit area were presumed drowned off Stony Point. Their clothing, fishing tackle and wallets were found in an empty outboard motor boat floating offshore.

The traffic victims included 20-month-old Paula Sue Hardy, of Warren, Ohio. She was thrown from her father's car when it collided with another car at an intersection on US23 near Brighton Sunday.

Hugh J. McGoldrick, 31, of Detroit, was killed early Sunday when his car plunged off the highway at an intersection of M29 and US25A near Port Huron. Witnesses said he was driving at a high rate of speed and ripped through a guard rail at a curve.

George Hesse, 71, of Muskegon, died of a heart attack while driving in downtown Grand Rapids Saturday night. His car went out of control, swerved onto the sidewalk and struck and fatally injured Phillip Naquam, 54. Police following the car in a cruiser said it ran wild for a block before smashing into a building.

Grand Jury Makes 545 Indictments In Phenix City Vice

subpoenaed in the past three weeks indicated the nature of the investigation.

There were leaders in the crusading Russell (County) Betterment Assn., for example, who have charged repeatedly that racketeers controlled election machinery in Phenix City.

Patterson, who had been nominated for attorney general of Alabama on a cleanup platform, was the RBA's attorney.

Other witnesses included state investigators, highway patrolmen and National Guardsmen who seized hundreds of slot machines, crooked dice, marked cards and lottery tickets in raids on gambling dens.

Another who went before the jury was ousted Police Chief Paul Daniel, who had said he received orders from Mayor Elmer Reese to let gambling joints operate unmolested. Reese, who denied the accusation, was arrested on charges of wilful neglect of duty.

Security To Be No. 1 Item For 1955 Legislation

set forth as a plan to thwart any Soviet aggression was under consideration by the National Security Council but that no final decision had been reached on whether to submit it to Congress in that form.

Eisenhower interrupted his Colorado vacation for 24 hours to fly back to Washington to address the legion. In his address he also gave France another prod in the hope of winning ratification of the European army project by that nation.

Forces Made Stronger

Without mentioning that country by name, he said progress on the six-nation project "has not fulfilled our hopes." He also declared that in the struggle for free world security and peace, "neither the ups nor downs justify any slackening of our efforts."

"Today the United States has the most powerful and the most efficient fighting force it has ever maintained short of all-out war. In fact, in some respects it is the most powerful ever developed."

"We have an Air Force of growing effectiveness. It has 50 per cent more jets than last year. It possesses awesome power."

"We have a mighty Navy, with 13,000 active aircraft. It is a world leader in nuclear propulsion."

"We have our strongest peacetime Army, equipped with modern weapons, trained under modern doctrine. It is capable of carrying out its assignments in the modern world.

"We have a Marine Corps, tough and strong, rightly proud of its esprit and readiness."

"All this power is supported by developing intelligence and warning systems of constantly increasing effectiveness and scope."

It was just after painting that picture, however, that Eisenhower said "we have failed miserably" to maintain a large, powerful reserve.

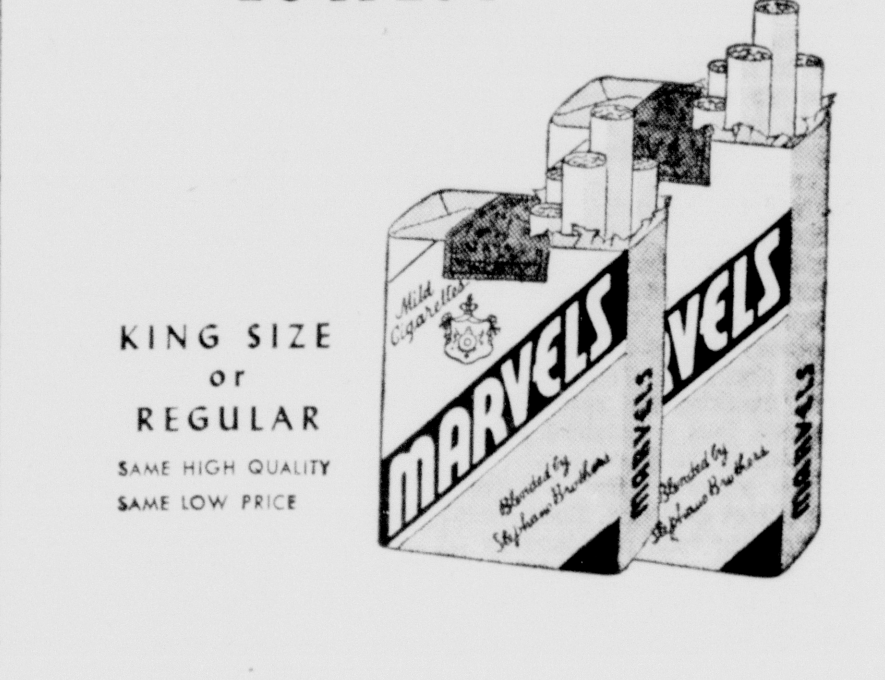

Fair Weather Will Be Continued Here

Cool dry air, which is part of a high pressure system extending from Hudson Bay, Canada to Texas will maintain an even temperature in the Upper Peninsula with general conditions remaining steady. The high today, according to weatherman S. E. Decker, will be 70 and the low tonight will be 50. No rain is forecast until late Wednesday. There was no rain reported in the U. P. in the last 24 hours.

A small hurricane in the Atlantic which had remained stationary for 48 hours, has begun to move north at a rate of four miles an hour. The winds have diminished and the high gusts are now 80 miles an hour. Rains on the South Atlantic coastal states are the only expected result of the blow.

Traces of fire appear among the earliest human relics.

Michigan Wild Geese Increase

EAST LANSING (P)—Wild geese are on the increase in Michigan, a State College wildlife specialist reports.

Dr. Miles D. Pirnie said Canada geese nested in at least 15 Michigan counties this past spring.

The largest nesting areas are in the Upper Peninsula but wild geese nesting also has had wild geese nesting for a long time.

Goslings reared at the W. K. Kellogg sanctuary near Battle Creek have fanned out to nearby areas and have been using the Gull Lake area for about 25 years.

Others have escaped from the park at Three Rivers to add to the numbers in southern Michigan.

State - released geese also are nesting near Ludington. A local sanctuary has led to geese nesting in the Alpena area.

In the Upper Peninsula, it was estimated that around 1,000 goslings were raised this year from 250 pairs of geese in Schoolcraft County.

Mountaineer Favors His Own Corn Liquor

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (P)—Defendant John Wilmoth, a mountaineer, when asked at a U. S. commissioner's hearing why he had been manufacturing corn liquor, replied:

"I just can't drink that stuff you sell in the liquor stores down here in Winston-Salem. It ain't a thing in the world but old chemicals. I've got to have good liquor."

He was held for federal grand jury action.

TROLLING HINTS

IN TROLLING WITH A WOBBLING SPOON, THE DRAW-AND-RELEASE MOTION ATTRACTS FISH. DRAW THE SPOON FORWARD A FOOT OR MORE AND THEN LET IT DROP BACK. REPEAT THE ACTION AT FREQUENT INTERVALS. GAME FISH ARE KNOWN TO GO FOR CRIPPLED FISH AND THE DRAW-AND-RELEASE METHOD GIVES THE SPOON JUST THAT APPEARANCE.

IN WEEDY WATERS GROWTH ON YOUR HOOK WILL KEEP FISH AWAY FROM IT. A GOOD WAY TO TELL IF YOUR LURE IS FREE OF WEEDS OR NOT IS TO WATCH YOUR ROD TIP. IF IT THROBS WITH THE TURNING OF THE SPOON, ALL IS WELL. IF IT DOESN'T, BETTER REEL IN AND CHECK.

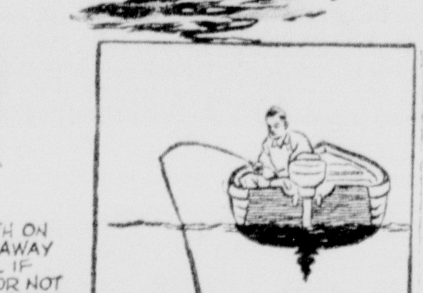

A GOOD RIG FOR VERY DEEP TROLLING FOR LAKE TROUT. THE WIRE LINE ALLOWS THE USE OF A LIGHT SINKER. SINKER LINE SHOULD BE WEAK ENOUGH TO BREAK IN CASE THE DIPPER BECOMES SNAGGED IN ROCKS.

Illustrated by Roy Frederic Reynolds

WOBBLING SPOONS ARE EFFECTIVE TROLLING LURES. THEIR ACTION RESEMBLES A WOUNDED SMALL FISH.

GOOD CATCHES ARE OFTEN MADE TROLLING IN CLEAR WATER JUST OFF INSHORE WEED BEDS AND PAD THICKETS.

Bell Rate Raise Hearing Sept. 29

LANSING (P)—A rehearing on the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. request for a 22 million dollar rate increase was scheduled for Sept. 29. The State Public Service Commission also broadened the scope of the hearing.

At a previous hearing the commission held the rate increase was not justified because present revenues were sufficient.

John H. McCarthy, commission chairman, said when the hearings are resumed the state also will re-examine the company's present rate schedule and investigate its revenues from "yellow pages" advertising and mobile radio-telephone systems.

Company attorneys had opposed these proposals, contending the commission should limit itself to hearings on the proposed rate increase.

Your Baby

It's worth all the effort you'll put into it to make Baby's first bath a pleasant one. Don't allow him to be frightened by the water; lower him into it slowly. In fact, it's a good idea to begin with a very little water. The next day, increase the amount of water only slightly and if he then shows no fear, it's a good bet that you can give him a regular bath. Thereafter, he'll regard his bath as a pleasant experience.

The play pen is indispensable for both Baby and mother since it keeps him safe but allows him to be active with mother's constant attention. You can make one by fencing off a corner of one room but generally, a play pen that you can move is better since it allows for more flexibility. Cover the floor with a washable pad that ties to the corners by tapes. But don't leave Baby alone in it for long stretches; check on him from time to time to be sure he's all right.

Window washing can be lightened if you assemble all your tools before starting. Place the pail or pan of cleaner on a high stool to avoid needless stooping. When you finish washing one window, move your equipment along to the next to be cleaned.

Coats Range From Casual To Formal

Raincoats with a real difference are the hallmark of rain fashions this fall. Designer Claire McCardell has used army drill lined in soft wool tweed (left) for a fitted, double-breasted coat with brass buttons. Hood is matching but separate. Pencil straight coat in natural poplin (center) is quilted from shoulder to hem. Matched scuttle bonnet ties with under-chin bow. Full, flaring choir boy coat (right) is in striped and pleated iridescent cotton, can be worn in all weather. Collar is washable black velvet.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor
NEW YORK—(NEA)—Pretti-ness and practicality point up fashions in rainwear for fall. Fitted, semifitted and wide coats all have importance and are cut from fabrics formerly unusual in the rainwear field. Fabric interest, plus color, puts these new coats into classifications ranging from casual to the rather formal short coats meant for late-day or evening wear. There are a good many raincoats in leather, some of these with detachable fur collars. White is favored for leather coats but black and other colors are used, too.

Brocade and tapestry effects for dressy raincoats get pretty trim in the form of washable velvet collars and cuffs. Velveteen is intended for evening, frequently is shown with lining in a contrasting color. Casual wear takes in wool jersey, sometimes with knitted trim, and the tweeds. Raincoats for travel are designed for the ultimate in light weight and packability. Many of these are taffeta some reversible. Lining are picturesque. They are done in color for drama, in wool jersey or alpaca for warmth in stripes and patterns for glamor.

Contract Bridge

By Josephine Culbertson

GOOD ODDS—BUT NOT GOOD ENOUGH

Today's declarer figured (correctly) that he had a 3 to 1 chance for his contract by winning either of two finesses, but he overlooked the fact that he could have converted this chance into a sure thing.

The bidding:
North East South West
1 NT Pass 3 ♦ Pass
4 ♦ Pass 6 ♦ Pass

South took a long time in passing to six diamonds, battling the temptation to bid a grand slam, but he finally decided "to be conservative." This was just as well, because he didn't quite succeed even with the little slam. Incidentally, and just for the record, South was exceedingly optimistic even to think about a 13-trick contract. North, with 18 high-card points, had an upper-limit no trump, and yet the chance for a grand slam was remote, requiring success with both major suit finesses. West opened the club jack. South won and drew the opposing trumps, then cashed the other club tricks. Now he led the singleton spade and tried the finesse of the queen. This lost to East, who returned a spade. South discarded a heart while he won with dummy's spade ace, but he soon had to take the heart finesse, and that also let him down.

It was unlucky to lose both finesses, but (to repeat) the fact remains that South passed up the correct play. When West played low on the spade lead toward dummy, declarer should have put in the nine. No matter how cheaply East took his trick, South would be assured of the rest of the tricks. A spade or a heart return by East into dummy's tenace would take care of South's three low hearts; and even if East had the thirteenth club to return, South could ruff in dummy while he discarded a heart from his own hand.

Miss Ottensman, Raymond Thorsen In Bridal Rites

Miss Mary Ann Ottensman became the bride of Raymond R. Thorsen in a double ring ceremony solemnized Saturday at 3 p. m. in Salem Lutheran Church in Escanaba by the Rev. William F. Lutz. The reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the church parlors.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ottensman Jr., 210 N. 14th St., wore a floor length gown of shimmering white satin under a double layer of nylon tulle, appliqued with Alencon lace. A Peter Pan collar detailed the bodice and the long sleeves tapered to a point at the wrist. Her veil of nylon illusion was attached to a like band, trimmed with orange blossoms and seed pearls. She wore a strand of pearls belonging to her grandmother and she carried a bridal bouquet of pink bountiful roses and stephanotis with white satin knotted shower ribbons.

Gowns of Like Design

The gowns worn by her attendants were of identical design, made with strapless bodices of lace over taffeta with lace boleros, and handkerchief skirts of nylon tulle over taffeta. Mrs. John Kusnier of Milwaukee, a cousin of the bride, matron of honor, wore pink and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations, edged with lacy maline. The bridesmaids, Miss Marian Thorsen and Miss Alice Thorsen, sisters of the bridegroom, were in aqua and yellow respectively. Marian's colonial bouquet was of pink and white carnations and Alice carried a colonial arrangement of green and white carnations. Matching headbands of carnations completed their ensembles.

Wallace Thorsen served as best man for his brother. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Semer Thorsen of Stonington. Groomsman were Kenneth Pedersen and Leonard Thorsen, another brother of the bridegroom. Donald Lemke and John Kusnier, cousins of the bride, ushered.

Mrs. Ottensman wore a dress of black metalasse crepe with red accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Thorsen was in navy blue and white. Their corsages were red roses.

Prelude of Sacred Music

Miss Irma Paul, organist of the service, played a 15-minute prelude of sacred music as the guests were assembling and the traditional procession from "Lohen grin" and the Mendelssohn recessional. Ralph Ottensman, an uncle of the bride, soloist, sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Two baskets and two standards holding white gladioli were placed at either side of the chancel of the church for the ceremony and vases holding white gladioli adorned the altar and the church windows. The pews reserved for family members were marked with white satin bows.

A floral centerpiece of summer flowers with tapers centered the serving table for the reception. A canopy formed of interwoven white crepe paper was over the table. The three-tiered wedding cake topped by a bridal couple figurine was placed on a side table. Presiding at the silver service were Miss Betty Flynn of Escanaba and Miss Donna Mae Barras of Milwaukee. Today's older woman—career girl or mother—is a far cry from the grandmothers of a couple of generations ago. Women seem to grow younger as their life expectancy increases. Even those who have hit the half-century mark look glamorous and youthful. Hair is kept coiffed neatly, the figure is kept slim with sensible diet, clothes are chic.

Sometimes little telltale indications will appear at neck, eyes or brow to belie the otherwise trim appearance. Older women who know the fine points of makeup may even be able to conceal these inevitable age scars. Hollywood makeup expert Max Factor Jr., who has built a career of making older women younger through the miracle of makeup, says that any woman "can outwit the years with a few beauty hints."

Use Warm Shades

He suggests that older women use "warm enlivening shades of makeup in harmony with their own skin tones" instead of the pale line-emphasizing shades. Candles may be cleaned with He points out that all-over complexion flitting from collar to hairline should minimize lines or hollows, veil under-eye shadows, and help give facial contours a more tight-fleshed look.

Older skins tend to be dry, so creamy foundations are best. You can get these in the cake type that may be rubbed easily over the skin. Rouge may be used to contour the face and then blended into a soft blush tone. A clear red shade will look warmer and younger than others, he says.

Darker Powder

Telltale under-chin age signs may be shadowed by using a shade of powder darker than that you use on the rest of your face. Cake-type powder is best for this area as it is more likely to cling. This darker powder may be used too, to blot out undereye shadows after a sleepless night or fatiguing day. Says Factor:

"Be wary of lipstick and avoid the Cupid's-bow mouth, a makeup mistake many older women make. Avoid dark red, bluish or brassy orange lipstick shades, all of which will date the older woman. Stick to the true red shades."

Candles may be cleaned with a cloth dampened in alcohol.

Soo Line Railroad Has Excellent Safety Record

The "Award of Merit" has been given the Soo Line Railroad by the National Safety Council in recognition of its fine safety record in 1953. Irving L. Fardal, superintendent of the Gladstone Division is advised by C. S. Pope, Minneapolis, vice president of the railroad.

For the first six months of 1954 the Gladstone division had a perfect safety record, the letter reveals.

The letter, which was sent to all departments of the road, follows: "The splendid efforts of all to better our safety record has been recognized nationally. The National Safety Council has awarded your company an 'Award of Merit for Noteworthy Safety Performance 1953.'"

"This is a rare honor of which we can all be proud as it is a fitting tribute to each and every one of you. It is especially significant since the requirements are high and only about ten per cent of all of the railroads receive this award each year.

"Our record for the first six months of this year shows a continued interest in the cause of safety and reflects an increasing betterment of the attitude toward the well-being of our fellow man.

"No reportable accidents during the first six months of 1954 are as follows:

Engineers, firemen, dining and sleeping car, signalmen, department of investigation and protection, division offices and staff, general office and purchasing department, track and baggage men.

"By Divisions, the Minneapolis-Duluth and Gladstone Divisions had no accidents.

"For the past twelve months the Minneapolis-Duluth Division has a ratio of 1.43 accidents per million man hours, the lowest for that Division since January, 1946. "The Gladstone Division also has an outstanding record with a ratio of 2.98, which is the lowest since January, 1946, with the exception of April, 1954, when the ratio was 2.93.

"Such records are deserving of the highest of commendations, but far more reaching is the contemplation of the accidents which have been prevented—especially since one of them might have been you.

"Hold fast to the principles of safety which have been established through experience and we will all have the opportunity in the future to be even more thankful. "Congratulations to all of you!"

The department moved its structure from the concrete floor and foundation and transposed it 90 degrees. Where it once faced Main St., the front now looks toward Cedar St.

Resting on wooden blocks in its new position, the present structure needs a floor and most of the front wall. In the area where the building formerly stood an addition will be built to provide the department with more room.

Lakers Defeat Fords For Tournament Title

Jack and Wally Morin each blasted homeruns as Top O' Lake copped the City Softball tournament by defeating Fords, 6-2, at Central Park Sunday evening in a fine drizzle.

The titleholders were forced to triumph in a second game after the Fords had kept its hopes alive with a 5-4 win in a first contest Sunday. The tourney was conducted under a double-elimination system and Fords had lost its first fray to the Lakers Monday.

John Kasin, pitching both games, limited the Fords to two hits in the crucial second contest. The winners grabbed one in the first on a Wally Morin double and a single by Francis Lesica, then added another in the second as Raymond Cummings walked and Wally Morin added another two-bagger.

Three important markers came in the fourth on two safeties and Wally Morin's homer off the slants of Al Adams. Jack Morin's first homerun of the season came in the next frame with none on base.

The first contest saw the Fords notch three in the sixth as Francis Selling tripped, Orville Olsen walked and Al Adams hit a ball that dropped for a three-bagger between Wally Morin and Raymond Cummings.

With the score deadlocked, 4-4, three straight bingles by Art DeMars, Clyde Strasser and Junior Middaugh were enough to give Fords the first fray win in the seventh.

Scoring two in the initial frame as John Matthews tripped and came in on an error by Middaugh, the Lakers forged ahead by 4-1 with two more in the sixth. Those markers came on an error, a Jack Morin single and a Kasin double. A controversy about a hit base-runner punctuated the proceedings.

Torrid Pace By Indians Is Too Much For Yank Champs

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Yankees aren't conceding the American League flag to Cleveland, but the first seed of doubt is beginning to grow in the minds of the defending champions.
This suspicion was reignited from a remark by Allie Reynolds, veteran Yankee pitching star who helped in all five consecutive championships.
"If they (the Indians) continue at this terrific pace," he said, "they deserve to win."

Setting .721 Pace
Reynolds was referring, of course, to Cleveland's sensational .721 winning percentage, a pace never before attained by an American League club. Should the Indians continue at this pace through the end of the season, they will smash the league record of 102 victories turned in by the 1927 Yankees.

The Yankees, traveling at a 690 pace, a feat never before reached by a runnerup club, defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1 Sunday but lost ground to the Indians. While the Yankees were winning their sixth straight, the Tribe was extending its consecutive victory string in Boston's Fenway Park to 10 walloping the Red Sox twice 6-2 and 8-1.

The doubleheader sweep boosted the Indians' lead over the Yankees to four games with 25 left to play by each contender. Cleveland tries for a sweep of the entire 11-game series in Boston today. The Indians have captured seven of nine from Boston in Cleveland.

Braves Beaten Twice
The National League race continued to tighten as the onchallenging Brooklyn Dodgers whipped the Braves twice in Milwaukee 12-4 and 11-4 to close to within 1 1/2 games of front-running Giants. The best the New Yorkers could do was gain a split in St. Louis after dropping an 11-inning 5-4 decision to the Cardinals. They managed to avert a "lost weekend" by overcoming a 3-1 deficit to win the nightcap 7-4.

Cincinnati's Redlegs strengthened their hold on fourth place, by defeating Philadelphia twice 3-2 and 8-4. Chicago's Cubs came from behind twice to sweep a twin bill from Pittsburgh 7-4 and 4-1.

In a wild doubleheader marred by a free-for-all, the Detroit Tigers took two from Philadelphia's Athletics 14-3 and 2-1 to wrest fourth place from the Red Sox by one percentage point. Baltimore, fresh from 16 losses in its last 17 games, surprised Washington with 8-4 and 5-0 victories.

Yankees Beat Trucks
The pitching of Bob Lemon and Art Houtteman and the hitting of Larry Doby and Vic Wertz featured the Indians' beaming-off party in Boston.
The Yankees finally beat Virgil Trucks on the hitting of Yogi Berra and the pitching of Whitey Ford. Ford hurled a neat six-hitter for his 15th victory and fourth

Alston, shaving, paused to shout at Reese with a grin:
"Hey, Pee Wee, do you guys want to work out tomorrow, about 10 o'clock?"
Reese looked back, shrugged.
"Whatever you say," he replied.
Alston made no further comment.

Sixth Straight Win
The double victory extended the Dodgers' winning streak to six straight. During that span they've rapped 76 hits, including 15 home runs, good for 63 runs. They laced 11 Milwaukee pitchers for 29 hits, four of them home runs—a pair by Duke Snider.
The 11th inning of the opener, awesome to watch, erased the old league record of seven runs in an overtime inning, set by the Giants against the old Boston Braves June 27, 1923.
The second game was almost as brutal, with five Braves' pitchers working fruitlessly as the Dodgers banged 16 hits.
The double defeat dropped the Braves 7 1/2 games behind New York and six back of Brooklyn.

Bark River And Powers In Sudden-Death Wins

Bark River and Powers won sudden-death elimination games in the Tri County League championship playoffs which opened yesterday.

The Barks blanked Niagara 4-0 behind two-hit pitching by southpaw Ernie LaChapelle while Powers upset Loretto, tied with Bark River at the top of the season standings, 6-2.

LaChapelle was in charge throughout the game as he sent an even dozen Badger batsmen down swinging and didn't issue a free pass to first.

Joe Rademacher, Bark River third baseman, put the Barks in an early 2-0 lead. He doubled in the first inning to score Ding DeGrand and Jim Greenwood. Rademacher added a single in the fourth and scored a run to lead the Bark River attack off Bing Miller who allowed six hits going the distance for Niagara. Miller whiffed 14 Bark River batsmen.

The only two hits allowed by LaChapelle were singles by Miller and Don Morstad, Niagara third baseman.

The surprise win by Powers over Loretto sets the stage for the Bob Wilson hit 2 homers, one a grand slammer and a double and drove in six runs to help Steve Gromek win his 15th game for Detroit. Gromek precipitated a near riot in the ninth when he charged out to Marion Pricano after the Philadelphia pitcher had hit him with a pitched ball in the ninth. Gromek threw several punches before the two combatants wrestled to the ground. After peace was restored, both pitchers were ejected.

Manistique Coaches Review Practice Tilt

MANISTIQUE—Manistique football coaches Dick Bonifas and Bob Eblin spent Saturday morning reviewing the squad mistakes of Friday evening's scrimmage and discussed offensive and defensive strategy in preparation for Friday's 8:30 p. m. season opener with Ishpeming at Hall Stadium.

The coaches also had their squad of 34 try game uniforms and shoes for size, hoping to save time during the coming week.

Coach Bonifas thought that his squad had "a tremendous amount of work to do" during the few days before the Ishpeming contest.

Bonifas singled out offensive fullback Don Anderson, who also played defensive right half, as looking good in the Friday scrimmage. He thought that right tackle Ed Busch also turned in a good performance.

The third-year coach credited his single-wing and winged-T quarterback Jim Cowman with good passing and fine blocking. He was also pleased with the performance of a newcomer, 250-lb.

League And All-Star Softball Games Set For Tuesday Night

The championship of the American softball league may be at stake Tuesday night at Memorial Field when the Merchants tangle with the Dells in the first half of a doubleheader beginning at 7 o'clock. An All-Star team made up of players from the rest of the fast loop will oppose Harnischfeger in the second game at 8:30.

The Dells are currently in first place in the American circuit having a one-game edge over the Merchants in the important loss column. If the Merchants can come through tomorrow night they would be in a virtual tie with the league-leaders but another loss would just about eliminate them from title consideration.

Don P. ulin will probably get the pitching assignment for the Dells with Bud Kenneally behind the plate. The Merchants are expected to start Leo Lancour with Harry Lancour catching.

Tomorrow night's finale will see a powerful All-Star team trying to stop the victory of a well-balanced Harnischfeger club, newly-crowned Upper Peninsula Class A champions. The Harnies have a string of twelve consecutive tournament wins, capped by their thrilling 2 to 1 win over Johnson Sport Shop of Marquette in the finals of the U. P. playoffs at Iron Mountain a week ago. Harnischfeger has picked up Paulin of the Dells and Ed Gauthier of the Merchants as their added players to be used if needed in the state tournament at Battle Creek next weekend.

The All-Star team picked to provide the champions with some stiff competition was chosen by the American League managers. The nominees from the Rapid River Bar hasn't been received yet but they are expected to be turned in tomorrow.

The following players have been named by their managers:

Merchants—Leo Lancour, Mickey Kuchenberg, Scoops MacDonal, Kippy Deroun, Bob Lehoullier and Bob Krohmer.

Dells — Bud Kenneally, Keith Morin, Ray Osen, Bud Noel, Lloyd Lundstrom and Barney Millette.

Northland Bread — Angie Hirn, Les Kamin, Bob Dufour, Ray Eblin and Don Scott.

Paper Mill — Gene Verhamme, Roy VanEffen, Jim Kennedy, Fred Breitzman and Ron Joran.

Charmont Transfer—John Baker, Roger Miron, Bill Baker, Billy Lancour, Duane Benard and Bud Laviolette.

Cornell Beats Trenary To Snare League Title In Bay de Noc Circuit

The Cornell Lions wrapped up the Bay de Noc League championship yesterday with a 2-0 decision over stubborn Trenary in the final regular game of the season.

In other Bay de Noc final games Rapid River downed Gladstone 10-5, Cooks belted Manistique 11-6, and Garden edged Fayette 8-7.

Charley Camps pitched and batted Cornell to victory. He scattered five hits in the shutout and collected three safeties in four times at bat. Camps issued only three walks while fanning 10.

Beck's Key Hit

Shortstop Jim Beck provided Cornell with enough to win when he doubled home Nels Swanson, who had singled, in the fifth inning. In the sixth Camps doubled and came in on a single by catcher George McFadden.

Veteran George Brown was nicked for nine hits going the route for Trenary.

Orville Olson, Cornell first baseman, had a field day at the expense of Manistique pitching. He teed off on ace Ron Carlson for three homers and a single in five times up, driving in nine of the Cooks runs.

Olson poked his homers in the first, third and eighth. The final homer came with the bases loaded. Cooks cracked 14 hits off Carlson while Joe H. Iversen allowed 12 from the Cooks mound.

Skidmor Gets Win

Jim Skidmor took over the pitching duties for Rapid River and responded with a neat four-hitter over Gladstone. He didn't issue a walk and fanned five batsmen.

Shortstop Nelson led Rapid River's 14-hit attack off Todd Butler with three singles and a double in five trips. One of Gladstone's hits was a one-run homer by Bob Bizeau in the fifth.

The victory was the sixth in the last eight starts for Rapid.

Garden clung to its second place spot in the final standings by squeaking past Fayette.

The league playoffs will get under way next Sunday in the sudden-death elimination among the four top teams. Winners will meet in a best of three series for the playoff crown.

State Lists 762 Cases Of Polio

LANSING (P)—Michigan is leading the Midwest in polio cases this year.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis reported that Michigan had 156 new cases last week. This boosted that state's total for the year to 762.

This compared with 180 cases during the same week last year and 285 two years ago.

There have been 992 polio cases reported for the year to date. At the same time last year there were 1,115 and 1,426 were reported two years ago.

There were 593 new cases last week in the 10-state Midwest area, a 15 per cent increase over the previous week. States in the area are Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Forty six of the 156 new Michigan cases were from eight of the 10 counties participating in the polio vaccine field trials. These included:

Calhoun, 1; Kent, 8; Lenawee, 2; Macomb, 13; Muskegon, 3; Oakland, 14; Ottawa, 2, and St. Clair, 2.

Only eight cases were in the group eligible to participate and only two participated in the trials. These were two non-paralytic cases reported from Oakland County.

The 110 other cases were distributed as follows:

Allegan, 1; Casse, 3; Chippewa, 1.

Centenarian Said He Was Only 96

DURBAN, South Africa (P)—Charles Francis Fleming apparently believes a man is only as old as he feels.

He went around telling people he was only 96.

The truth came out when he had an accident and was hospitalized. His daughter, who knew it all along, registered him as 100.

It turned out that Fleming didn't mind. There was a small birthday celebration and he confessed "it's quite nice being 100 you know."

Private Enterprise Best Economic Cure, Churchmen Conclude

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
EVANSTON, Ill. (P)—Churchmen from many lands—including some from the Communist side of the Iron Curtain—have commended private enterprise as a spur to economic progress.

A report to that effect was approved late Friday at the Assembly of World Council of Churches.

Shift To Right
The declaration, regarded as a shift to the right in the organization's position on economic matters, made these points:

The spread of governmental action in economic affairs "has been accompanied by a fresh recognition of the importance of relative freedom in enterprise and of the role of the price system."

Churches have been "properly critical" of monopolistic and irresponsible business practices but, at its best, the private business system "has provided incentives for the responsible initiative and hard work which produces economic progress."

The report also maintained that government must be ready to "counteract depression or inflation" and to "relieve the impact of unemployment, industrial injury, low wages, unfavorable working conditions, sickness and old age."

Christians were urged to work for "improved national or local welfare legislation and for the provision of adequate medical care."

Security For Farmers
The report advocated increased production and "a greater measure of equity in the distribution of wealth and income."

It said farmers should have "a reasonable measure of security of income."

It also suggested that trade union, farmer and employer associations and other groups should be responsible to their members and society as a whole.

The statement—endorsed unanimously by representatives of 163 denominations in 48 countries—differed in its treatment of capitalism and government's role in society from the report adopted at the Council's first assembly at Amsterdam in 1948.

The Amsterdam report said there were "conflicts between Christianity and capitalism." That report also said the church should "reject the ideologies of both com-
